My family has a long history of working for defense contractors and some defense contractors wanted to hire me permanently but I refused.

This is why, I believe, I am viciously attacked everyday. Some ppl make lots of money at this and want it to stay that way.

The problem is not so much the people are evil--it's more that the temptation is great and opportunity for profiteering is there...

This is why some ppl theorize an "iron triangle" of war profiteering between politicians, military and defense contractors...

34 minutes ago Favorite Reply Delete

How big a business is defense contracting? NOBODY KNOWS! The budget itself is CLASSIFIED. But it's estimated in the trillions yearly.

Again, it's about accountability. You can't have accountability when govt. weapons are some private company's trade secrets.

37 minutes ago Favorite Reply Delete

»

mikematloff Mike Matloff

That is, the price of those weapons to our allies should be only the cost of manufacture plus the salaries of involved govt. employees.

38 minutes ago Favorite Reply Delete

mikematloff Mike Matloff

... as much transparency as possible. Being from one govt. to another, it should be done for national security reasons & not for profit!

Such supplying of allies with weapons or weapon intellectual property should be according to law, have a trail of accountability and ...

40 minutes ago Favorite Reply Delete

mikematloff Mike Matloff

If the U.S. govt wants to supply allies with weapons, then that's a govt. thing not a publicly-traded-profit-making-company thing.

41 minutes ago Favorite Reply Delete

»

mikematloff Mike Matloff

Scientists provide the R&D which yields intellectual property then owned by the government. And let the govt. manufacture the weapons.

42 minutes ago Favorite Reply Delete

»

mikematloff Mike Matloff

Profiting by the weapon sold is a recipe for endless wars and no peace ever. It just makes investors want war (permanent war economy).

45 minutes ago Favorite Reply Delete

>>

mikematloff Mike Matloff

The idea is simple: Remove the profit motive from war.

46 minutes ago Favorite Reply Delete

mikematloff Mike Matloff

We can compensate (handsomely) companies from whom we "borrow" these promising scientists. But also via hourly or total fixed cost.

47 minutes ago Favorite Reply Delete

>>

mikematloff Mike Matloff

But let's pay the scientists by hours worked. While they work for the nation's defense they become govt employees.

48 minutes ago Favorite Reply Delete

>>

mikematloff Mike Matloff

It's not like we can't have a fierce national defense any other way. Let's hire the best scientists and pay them well.

It's just another HUGE CONFLICT OF INTEREST. No good.

51 minutes ago Favorite Reply Delete

But we DO live in a country where our nation's defense is provided by contractors that get paid for every gun, plane, tank, missile shipped.

52 minutes ago Favorite Reply Delete

You wouldn't want to live in a U.S. where judges were private contractors who got paid by the conviction.

53 minutes ago Favorite Reply Delete

You wouldn't want a private, contracted police force that got paid by the arrest.

mikematloff Mike Matloff

If you've ever wondered why we end up taking on despots around the world who possess US-made weapons, it's often cuz we sold 'em to them!

54 minutes ago Favorite Reply Delete

»

mikematloff Mike Matloff

Defense contractors = publicly traded companies whose shareholders profit when they sell weapons = HUGE motivation to make war.

55 minutes ago Favorite Reply Delete

mikematloff Mike Matloff

For a long time now I've been saying we need to governmentalize our nation's defense--no more defense contractors--precisely bcuz of this.
